GME MOASS :

More suggestions that are not financial advice on

HOW TO NOT FUCK UP

(and why you should'nt sell everything at once)

So you've probably seen those and others like it :

Easy right ? Left side hold, right side sell. Except that ...

YOU WONT HAVE THE FULL PICTURE WHEN THE MOASS HAPPENS !

When an ape is in the dark, he can get scared and get his hands sweaty.

That's why I wanted to insist on preparing for the obvious-but-easily-forgotten "YOU WONT KNOW" part with this trash presentation you'll be able to dry yourself with if you start peeing yourself when things get too exciting.

so ... HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL ACTUALLY SEE :

*Where mountain ??
Where's the top ?
Is it the top already ?
Is it crashing ? Should I sell ?
FUUUUUUUUU...*

STOP !

Stop trying to figure out if the peak is now, you won't know until it's over, so don't try to guess and all-in.

YOU WILL NOT SELL AT 100% OF THE PEAK.

Don't look for the perfect timing, the only thing you'd gain are regrets.

If you want to maximize your profits, you have to accept your profits won't be THE maximum.

What ??? Yes.

If you gradually sell you average your sell price.
In this case you cannot get 100% of the max profit
but AT WORST you get 50% of it.

Whats a better bet between :

- (a) Getting 1% to 100% of the squeeze ?
- (b) Getting at least 50% of the squeeze ?

You apes understand better with pictures so :

Get it ?

So what to do then ?

I dont know what you'll do, but ill do as some wrinkled brains said because it makes sense to me :

You dont sell anything until :
- a plateau is reached or
- a SERIOUS dip happens

And then, you dont PANIC SELL everything because neither A or B mean its over.

Exemples :

*But but but ... it looks bad ...
If I sell as you show in your graph, I miss the peak !*

YES, BUT THAT'S BECAUSE NOW YOU KNOW WHERE THE PEAK IS.
You didnt know before. That's the whole point.

If you sell all at what you guess is "the peak",
you'll get a random result between 1% to 100%
of the maximum profit you could have.

NEVER GO :

INSTEAD GO :

Remember where you're coming from !

You are NOT losing money

Keep in mind the MOASS
will NOT be a clean drawn-mountains

SHENANIGANS ARE AT THE CORE OF THE HF's JOBS.
There have been many, there will be more.

There - that's all I wanted to say.
I think I used enough CAPS, bolds and colors for the message to get through even the drooliest ones in the back.

I hope it will help my fellow apes to keep their cool when the HF's start messing around, and HODL as a proper ape should.
